

MCRTC INC.

MY CELLPHONE REPAIRS TRAINING CENTER

Date: June 1, 2017

MEMO

We are proud to announce, our Ghanaian CEO with the board of directors has finally decided to expand our products and services to Ghana.

The expansion will include the building of controlled training facilities, which will be offering (C.M.T) Certified master Technician classes as we have here in the United States.

In order to encourage and equip the mass Ghanaian youth with much needed technology and knowledge, so as to open electronic assembly factories in hopes of attracting major tech companies e.g. (LG, Samsung, Apple, Microsoft etc..) to invest in the economy and bring manufacturing and assembly lines to the nation. Hence creating more jobs and increasing the overall productivity of the youths.

We will also be opening multiple retail locations, which will specialize in the sales, repairs and recycling of mobile phones and computers at an affordable cost.

As such we will be employing local Ghanaians, and will encourage, promote and aggressively pursue any advantages and opportunities that comes our way.

We look forward to any support we may receive from the locals and government officials, as we believe the available Ghanaian work and labor force is untapped and limitless. The commencement of this project would possibly put Ghana in a position to compete with other countries such as china and India in attracting technology companies and manufacturing lines to invest in the Ghanaian economy as an enhanced technology state like any other.

Sincerely

Abdul W Annan

President/CEO, MCRTC, Inc

